"LILLIE'S LOCK!
OPENED IN ONE MINUTE!

NEW YORK, September 2, 1864.

F. TILLMAN, Esq., 318 Battery street,
Bet. Commercial and Clay, San Francisco.

DEAR SIR: WE NOTICE AN ADVERTISEMENT in your daily papers respecting the "security" of the "Lillie" lock. We are aware that you well understand this lock, and, of course, will not allow yourself to be annoyed by such representations. We have just sent for one of our men at the factory, and he, in our presence, opened one of Lillie's best safe locks, after it had been locked and the combination turned on,

By One Blow of the Hammer!

Against the knob on the outside, and thereby breaking the cast iron bolt on the inside.

The whole time occupied in opening the lock was about ONE MINUTE. We send you this lock that your friends may not be deceived by false representations, etc.

Respectfully, etc.,
A. E. TILTON,
WM. McFARLAND.

No Practical Lockpicker or Thimble-rigger are required to Operate the said Lillie Lock.
Any parties desirous of seeing the above mentioned lock, its insecurity and easy mode of opening the same, can call at 318 Battery street, San Francisco.

GLOUCESTER, March 26, 1864.

MESSRS. TILTON & McFARLAND,
Safe Manufacturers, Boston, Mass.
Gentlemen: From representations made by Mr. Lillie, I was induced to purchase one of his
So-called "Fire Proof Safes"
On the 18th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of buildings, and our own with the rest. We trusted our books, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the so-called "safe" was taken from the ruins, and on opening it we found that Everything was Destroyed.
We send you the safe, with what is left of the papers, and you will see that not one of them is legible or strong enough to retain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in this fire, we noticed Mr. Kenrie & Hardy just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S make), and its contents were found to be
In Perfect Condition.
This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK. & H.'s cellar—such as lard, pork, etc.—their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had that little in the cellar. There was another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same fire, faring, however, no better than our own.

Very respectfully, Your obedient servants,
[Signed:] GEO. L. CHESBRO & CO.

TILTON & McFARLAND'S SAFE!
THE ONLY PROTECTION AGAINST FIRE AND BURGLARS.

For the last Fifteen years
This safe has been well known in California and the Eastern States. They have resisted all the fires on the Pacific coast, and we can point with satisfaction to the record that
No Man Ever Lost a Dollar
out of one of our safes by means of burglars. Their fire and burglar proof qualities are so well known that they need no further recommendation.

A good assortment of Tilton & McFarland's Fire and Burglar Proof Safes to be had at
No. 318 Battery street, San Francisco.

FOURTH OF JULY IN DUTCH FLAT.

Oh, Muse! inspire my theme!
On my subject pour the cream
Of rythm, so that caviling critics can but say,
"Surely the gods have beautified thy lay!"

The eighty-ninth has gone and passed,
Which day shall ever be the last
In memory of millions yet unborn,
As o'er the land the booming gun awakes the natal morn.

Three cheers for patriot public spirit!
Which with emulating merit,
Honored the day of Liberty,
All over Free America!

Three groans for every mammon leech,
Who pinch the eagles till they screech,
Whose patriotism, in the main,
Depends upon their loss and gain.

Thrice damned by penury be his doom,
Who is surcharged with penny wisdom;
Who clasps his purse and shuts his eyes,
Till love of country in him dies.

Such curse should blight this German borough,
Till weeds grow stunt in every furrow—
Till patriotism takes a rise,
And offers up a sacrifice.

* * * * * * *

My muse begins to lower, oh, ho!
Just like the muse of Edgar Poe;
He takes his tope and chews his cud,
Soars high, and lighteth in the mud.
So down he flops in "German Level,"
In dust and mire to roll and revel;
Till he gets tired and sick of rhyme.
Hark! thus he first begins to spout:
"This dang'd mean place is most played out.
The morn of this, our natal day,
You've ushered in with grand display
Of Chinese crackers, gin and rum,
Without a cannon, fife or drum,
The goddess who, for four years past,
Has led the armies of the West,
The North and East, against the best
Of Southern Chivs., should mash your bones,
And cast your skulls among the stones;
Both man and beast should take you all
And mash you fine with Old Abe's maul.
Silence! hark! hark! you ranting brute,
I hear the music of a flute.
Hark! it is a sound I like to hear,
It strikes with pleasure on my ear,
It is the children's opening chorus,
Starting on their way before us
To Bloom's, to have a gala day,
To pick and nick, to swing and play,
Led by their captain, pious D——,
And their right bower, Mrs. ——,
Whose matchless form and winning way
Would captivate a Turkish bey;
Whose charming voice, so sweet and clear,
Would sure elipse a chanticleer,
What ease and elegance her person grace—
Bright-beaming as the evening star, her face!
And so they pass, nor absent long,
Before we spy another throng;
And in their midst is graceful P——,
Who likes to have his say and see,
And goes to swing sweet Mrs. ——.
"Zounds!" cries the muse, "who is this graceful cuss?"
And straightway the answer comes to us—
"That? P——, the Prince of Poke-'er Players,
Peer of Pimps,
Envied by every one of Satan's imps;
Mortals he loves to prick and pluck and puck and punch,
In such a gay, enticing way, he'd never raise a bunch.
A waddling, gawky, awkward, mopish-looking prig,
We'll laugh with joy to see him take a jig,"
Said Muse, and hunched me in the ribs. Said I,
"be calm,
For with him she is happy as a clam."
And standing near the source whence pleasure flows,
Eagerly she sips the nectar as it goes.
The slightest rippling of her trail,
Her simplest note that swells the gale,
Her sunny glance, her hair, her eyes,
To him are opening paradise.
What's paradise to him, if truth the people tell,
To her may bring the keenest pangs of hell."
"Muse, you appear a real scandal-monger,
Who sucks up filth to satisfy its hunger,
Then spews it forth from overflowing chest,
Regardless of the prophet Paul's behest,
In the same copious libations free,
As the saliva from the mouth of P——
When he is anxious for some human gore,
And foams and froths like to some giant boar."

* * * * * * *

Again I look—the muse has flown,
And left me pondering all alone;
So now, in search of new delight,
I start for Bloom's with all my might,
To gather notes to aid my rhyme,
And pass away the leisure time.
How disappointments greet mankind!
How disaffected is the mind
When cherished hopes are seen to vanish,
And all those thoughts we strive to banish
From memory, come looming on the vision
Of remembrance, with baleful derision.
Such was my disappointment there,
A disappointment hard to bear,
For a laughing, joyous butterfly,
With keenest witchery in her eye,
Flitting near in playful caper,
Stole my pencil and my paper;
And, as the prize I followed after,
I tripped and fell, 'mid genial laughter.
Like some high hope in future veiled,
Or some lost friend sincerely wailed,
Or some lost friend sincerely wailed,
I vainly strove to reach the prize,
Or call it from the butterflies;
So down I sat in woful plight,
And swore to meet the muse at night,
Where, at the Golden Eagle Hall,
We'd laugh to hear the fiddler call—
To see the Prince jump, hop and sprawl,
And call it dancing at a ball.
And so I went and gave my mite,
To guide poor sinners to the light,
Which saves them from a sleepless night—
Query—was this action wrong or right?
This I can't tell, but, right or wrong,
On the road to hell were the merry throng.
Whether we are saved or not,
From that lake so very hot,
We are sure to go to pot—
We are bound to die and rot.

* * * * * * *

Hey-day! the muse is coming in,
To let us know where he has been.
"In the center of the street,
Patting with my little feet,
I've been on watch for graceful P——,
And his sweet lady, Mrs. ——.
He left her at the stair,
To go and grease his hair;
Such courtesy is rare:
Do you think it hardly fair?
You are either very tight,
Or you like a greasy sight.
But you try with all your might
Some fair character to blight.
Come, come, let us view the dance,
Nor compare with modern France
The people in their antic dance."
"Ha, ha! P——'s jumped through his pants!"
"Blame P——. Let him alone, soon a storm will lower,
Then, to protect us from a shower
Of tobacco juice, and filth of nose,
We'll need a suit of gum cloth clothes."

* * * * * * *

I am a plaguarizing poet,
Though few who read will ever know it,
And those who will can never show it,
But if they do, why, let them go it.
My pride forbids it ever should be said,
My heels eclipsed the honors of my head,
That I had patience with the pesty ants,
Or ever thought that jumping was a dance.
Yet long I viewed the sport that night;
The muse sat by in great delight,
Remarking this or that of he or she,
And called it a menagerie,
Enquiring oft 'bout all but one,
O'er whom we had a mint of fun;
And drawing off all our imagination,
O'er him we held the following conversation:
"Who is that chap with head like stack of hay?"
"Why, sir, he's the village popin-jay."
"He dances well, I must confess,
And neatly, too, he wears his dress;
But what do people call him, say,
Besides the village popinjay?"
"Sometimes they call him E—— or C——,
At others they call him little B——,
And when they feel a little jolly,
Some are pleased to dub him C——a."
"Ah! now I recognize the bore;
He once professed some legal lore,
If I am right. Was it not he
Who used to live by — ——?"
"The same. Now silence and list to me,
While I relate some history:
He is no bore, but rich in knowledge,
Which he acquired at Yale College.
His heart is open, large and free,
And was beloved by —. ——.
He's neat and proud, as all may see—
Has his full share of dignity;
Of self-esteem he has a bump
As big as any camel's rump.
But these defects, if such they are,
Are seen by us so very rare,
We're taught of censure to beware,
And feel that Nature placed them there.
Two years ago he crossed the sand,
To try his luck in Silver-land,
Before accepting love's right hand,
Uniting hearts in hymen's band.
At length he came; he came again;
She met him with a cold disdain;
She talked to him in stranger tone,
And said her love had long since flown."
"How very silly! he ought to have known,
That 'every dog should bury his bone;'
And if the bone he would retain,
Must visit oft the place again."
"But that he did not do, you see,
So the bone was nabbed by that dog, P——,
And our friend there, the popinjay,
Could not take the bone away,
'Cause why? I've heard the little joker,
Could not play the game of poke-'er.
But with the cue,
When balls were new,
And cloth was sleek,
And cushions quick,
He'd carom oft, and sock 'em in the hold;
This game so innocent and old.
And I—but she of the lily hue,
Has taken her choice, between the two,
Of him who shuffles on the top,
Riffles in the middle,
Deals heavy on the bottom—
Dod rot 'em.
I think, when now it is too late,
That they and she,
C——, P—— and B——,
Will find there's been a grave mistake,
Which guides the wise away from evil,
And leads the foolish to the devil.
This now completes my little history;
To you, perhaps, it seems a mystery,
Yet I have it from a contraband,
Reliable as your own right hand."
Said Muse to me, "Ipse dixit—
My advice before we exit,
To C—— and P——,
Of course must B——,
To Study Tam O'Shanter well,
And apply the moral to themsel,."

HO ANG.

NAPOLEON'S AND GRANT'S ARMIES, RETURNING FROM THE WARS.—The line of March of the army of the Potomac extended over a distance of twenty miles, occupied seven hours in passing a given point, and is estimated to have included 85,000 men of all arms. Gen. Sherman's army, which was reviewed on the following day, was fully as large, making a total of not less than 170,000 men who passed in review before the President and the Lieutenant-General. From a sketch of the great European military reviews of this century we learn the following facts:

"After Austerlitz, on November 25th, 1807, the Emperor Napoleon, in the grand court of the Tuileries, reviewed 100,000 men.

When Napoleon collected his tremendous army on the border of Russia, he resolved that it should pass in review before him as it first touched the enemy's soil. Two hundred thousand men, including forty thousand horses, of whom twelve thousand were cuirassiers, armed in glittering steel, passed the river Niemen in the presence of the Emperor.

On March 15th, 1814, Napoleon reviewed at Rheims, before the abdication of Elba, the remains of the battered army of Russia. The men were in rags, dispirited and haggard. They did not cheer, and felt no thrill at the beat of the salvos of their cannon. They numbered forty-five thousand.

On September 15th, 1815, the allied armies held a grand review in Paris, subsequent to the final overthrow of Napoleon. The British review numbered sixty thousand men in red coats. The Russian review was held on the plains of Vertu, near Chalons, September 10th. One hundred and sixty thousand men, twenty-eight thousand of whom were cavalry, with five hundred and forty cannons, were displayed.

VALUABLE HAY.—A few weeks ago a trim little vessel, of about one hundred and fifty tons burthen, slid quietly from her ways into the Bay, between North Beach and Black Point, and was immediately chartered by certain parties for the sum of six thousand dollars to carry a cargo of hay to Mazatlan. When we consider that the little Nicholas Van Bergen would hardly hold the half of six thousand dollars' worth of hay, at its market price here, the exceeding munificence of the transaction on the part of the persons hiring the vessel for the voyge seems somewhat remarkable. At all events, the tiny craft, a perfect pet of the winds and tides, hauled unostentatiously around to a pier, and under her decks were stowed the precious bales; hay, of course, for hungry Mexican horses—nothing else. Then she spead her pinions to the friendly gales, mountedgallantly the ocean swells that came to meet her as she passed out the Golden Gate, and spede away for Mexico. Paddle-wheels and propellers lagged astern; only the swift sea-bird could give her convoy, and she arrived safely at Mazatlan—having made the quickest voyage on record. He bales of hay were pregnant bales; they were but the disguise of munitions of war—contraband articles that horses would't fatten on, by any means; and having escaped the maw of confiscation, the adventurous shippers made a good thing of it. Many bales of hay have gone to Mexico lately.—S. F. Call.

A PANEGYRIC ON PRESIDENT LINCOLN, BY HON. CHARLES SUMNER.

BOSTON, June 1st.—Hon. Charles Sumner delivered a long and eloquent eulogy before the authorities of this city to-day. The career of the dead President was traced through the struggles of his early life, his gradual rise to position, and his political record was looked into. Following is an extract, painting the character of the dead while in the discharge of the Presidential duties:

The speaker contrasted the character of Lincoln with that of Washington. He was naturally humane inclined to pardon, and never remembering the hard things said against him. Such a character awakened the sympathy of the people. They saw his fellow feeling with them, and felt the kinship. With him as President, the idea of Republican institutions where no place is too high or the dumblest, was perpetually manifest, so that his simple presence was like a Proclamation of the Equality of all men. His humor has also become a proverb. He insisted sometimes that he had no invention, but only a memory. He did not forget the good things that he heard, and was never without a familiar story to illustrate his meaning. When he spoke the recent West seemed to vie with the ancient East in apologue and fable. His ideas moved as the beasts entered Noah's ark, in pairs. At times his illustrations had a homely felicity, and with him they seemed to be not less important than the argument looks small to him. He is so put up by nature that a lash upon his back would hurt him, but a lash upon anybody else's back does not hurt him. And then, again, there is a bit of reply to Mr. Douglas, which is characteristic not only for its humor, but as showing how little at that time he was looking to the great place which he reached so soon afterwards. "Senator Douglas," said he, "is of world-wide renown. All the anxious politicians of his party, or who have been of his party for years past, have been looking upon him as certainly, at no distant day, to be the President of the United States. They have seen in his round, jolly, fruitful face, post offices, land offices, marshalships, and Cabinet appointments, chargeships, and foreign missions, bursting and sprouting out in a wonderful exuberance, ready to be laid hold by their greedy hands. * * * On the contrary, nobody has ever expected me to be President. In my poor, lean, lank face nobody has ever seen that any cabbages were sprouting out. These are disadvantages that the Republicans labor under. We have to fight the battle upon principle, and upon principle alone." Here is a revelation with regard to himself, which is as honorable as it is curious. He was original in mind as in character. His style was his own; formed on no model, and springing directly from himself. While failing often in correctness, it is sometimes unique in beauty and in sentiment. There are passages which will always live. Such passages make an epoch in State papers. No Presidential message or speech from a throne ever had anything of such touching reality. They are harbingers of the great era of humanity. While uttered from the hights of power, they reveal a simple, unaffected trust in Almighty God, and speak to the people as equal to equal. He was placed by Providence at the head of his country during an unprecedented crisis, when the fountains of the deep were broken up, and men turned for protection to military power. Multitudinous armies were mustered. Great navies were set on foot. Of all these he was the constitutional Commander-in-Chief. As the war proceeded, all his personal natives charged and others sprang into being, until the sway of a Republican President became imperatorial and imperial. But not for one moment did the modesty of his nature desert him. And thus with equal courage in the darkest hours he continued on, heeding as little the warnings of danger as the temptations of power. "It would not do for a President," he said, "to have guards with drawn sabres at his door, as if he were or were trying to be, or were assuming to be an Emperor." When he became President he was without any considerable experience in public affairs; nor was he much versed in history, whose lessons would have been most valuable. As he became more familiar with the place his facility evidently increased. But his habits of business were irregular, and they were never those of dispatch. He did not see at once the just proportion of things, and allowed himself to be too much occupied with details. Even in small things, as well as in great, there was in him a certain resistance to be overcome. There were moments when this delay caused impatience, and important questions seemed to suffer. But when the blow was struck there was nothing but gratitude, and all confessed the singleness with which he had sought the public good. There was also a conviction that, though slow to reach his conclusion, he was inflexible in maintaining it.

In the statement of moral truth and the exposure of wrong, he was at times singularly cogent. There was fire as well as light in his words. Nobody exhibited Slavery in its enormity more clearly.

Perhaps his courage to apply the truth was not always equal to his clearness in seeing it. Perhaps the heights that he gained in conscience were not always sustained in conduct. And have we not been told that the soul can gain heights which it cannot keep? Thus, ever while blasting slavery, he still waited, till many feared that his judgment would "lose the action." Thus, even while vindicating the equality of all men against the assaults of one of the ablest debaters of the country, and insisting with admirable constancy, that colored persons were included in the promises of the Declaration of Independence, he yet allowed himself to be pressed by his adversary to an illogical limitation of this self-evident truth, so that colored persons might be excluded from all political rights. But he was at all times willing to learn and not ashamed to change. Before death he had already expressed his desire that the suffrage should be extended to colored persons in certain cases; but here again he failed to apply that very principle of equality for which he so often contended. If the suffrage be given to colored persons only in certain cases, then, of course, it can be given to whites in the same cases, or equality ceases to exist. It was his own frank confession that he had not controlled events, but that they had controlled him. At all the great stages of the war he followed rather than led. The people, under God, were masters.

There was one theme in which latterly he was disposed to conduct the public mind. It was in the treatment of the rebel leaders. His policy was never announced, and of course it would always have been subject to modification, in the light of experience. But it is well that, at the very moment of his assassination, he was much occupied by thoughts of clemency and pardon. He was not harsh, even in speaking of Jefferson Davis; and only a few days before his end, when one who was privileged to speak to him in that way, said, "Do not allow him to escape the law, he must be hanged," the President replied calmly, in the words which he had adopted in his last inaugural address, "Judge not, that ye be not judged." The question of clemency here is the very theme so ably debated between Cæsar and Cato, while the Roman Senate was considering the punishment of the Conspirators of Catiline.

His place in history may be seen from the great events with which his name is forever associated. By the association of a common death he will pass into the same historic galaxy with Cæsar, William of Orange, and Henry IV. of France, each of whom were assassinated, and his star will not pale by the side of theirs. Cæsar was a contemporary to him in everything, unless it be in clemency. And he the colossal dence that each was fifty-six years of age at the time of his death. But how unlike in all else. Cæsar was of a brilliant lineage, of complete education, of amplest means; of truest experience; of acknowledged genius, but he was the enslaver of his country whose personal ambition took the place of patriotism, and whose name has since become the synonyme of imperial power. William of Orange was of princely origin, and in early life was a page in the palace of Charles V. In the long contest of Holland with Spain, he became the liberator of his country. Henry IV., memorable for mirth, anecdote, and pregnant wit, represented the idea of National Unity in France as the supreme condition of National safety. These are illustrious names; but there is nothing in them which can eclipse the simple life of our President, whose example will be an epoch in the history of humanity, and a rebuke to every usurper—to be commemorated forever by history and by song.

There is another character, who like him, was taken away at the age of fifty-six, with whom the President may be more properly compared. It is St. Louis of France; and yet here the resemblance is only in certain kindred features, and the common consecration of their lives. Under his influence a barbarous institution was overthrown, and France was lifted in the career of civilization. History recalls with undisguised delight, the simple justice which he administered to his people, as he sat under an oak in the park of Vincennes. Our President struck too at a barbarism, and lifted his country. He, too, practised equality. "And he, too, had his oak of Vincennes! It was that plain room, where he was always so accessible, as to make his example difficult for future Presidents. But there were stated times when he was open to all who came with their petitions, and they flocked across the continent. The transactions of that simple court of last resort would show how much was done to temper the law, to assuage sorrow, and to care for the widow and orphan; but its only record is in heaven. Such, fellow-citizens, is Abraham Lincoln.

THE DIVISION AMONG THE SAINTS.—A curious letter from Joseph Smith, Jr., son of the founder of the Mormon religion, appears in a late number of the Chicago Evening Journal. The letter was written in reply to a current newspaper paragraph to the effect that a new sect of the Mormons had came into existence under the leadership of Joseph Smith, jr., who would start for Utah for the purpose of deposing Brigham Young and purifying the Mormon Church. The writer asserts that the 'new sect' alluded to has been in existence for five years and already numbers over ten thousand members, many of whom are now at Salt Lake "striving to make head against the perverters of Christ." He says that polygamy is no part of the Mormon faith, and that it was introduced into the Church by Brigham Young and other sensual sinners. Mr. Smith is in error. Old Joe Smith was an advocate of polygamy previous to his death, and left a number of sorrowing concubines to mourn his murder. But this is a matter of little moment. The letter of the younger Smith convinces us that a revolution is progressing quietly among the "Saints," and that the late movement at Salt Lake in opposition to the practice of polygamy is the result of the heretical leaven introduced into the Church by the writer.—But the wife question does not seem to be the only point of difference between the new sect and the old. As the writer briefly refers to these differences, we will give them in his own language. He says:

"Lest this letter should become too intrusive, I will briefly state some points of difference between our faith and doctrines and that of Brigham Young.

We worship God, and not Adam.

We believe this to be a gathering dispensation, but do not believe in gathering to the Salt Land.

We believe that loyalty is becoming the Christian; and do not believe that rebellion and sedition are justifiable in any people whose rights are guaranteed to them by a beneficent Government.

I now quote from a book published in 1845, one year after my father was killed, and since republished by us in 1864. It is a book called the 'Doctrines and Covenants of the Church,' and is to us in the place of a book of discipline. In an article of marriage, it declares:

"We believe that one man should have but one wife, and one woman but one husband, except in case of death, when either is at liberty to marry again."

This was published by the Church during the regime of laws under which it was existing at my father's death, which took place in June 1845, and the difference between myself and Brigham is easily measured, when I affirm the foregoing quotation as being my belief on that point.

Mr. Smith quotes from the original Book of Mormon, which declares polygamy to be "abominable," and makes a very strong case against Brigham and his seventy wives.

Young is beginning to feel his grasp loosening upon the affections of the 'Saints,' through the workings of the new sect, and will probably be compelled to abandon polygamy ere long. The system will soon result in numerous interesting suits touching the rights of property, and cannot but be abandoned. None but the children of a first wife can be recognized as legitimate by the law as heirs to the property of the father. Such an existence of affairs cannot long exist in an American community.—Virginia Enterprise.

THE HEROES OF AMERICA.—The history of the United States abounded with instances which almost look as if Providence had interfered directly in our affairs. In the deaths of the great men of other nations there is rarely anything peculiar; but ours have been majestic. The elder Adams, whose iron energy fixed the wavering resolution of the Congress that declared our liberties, and whose prophetic mind foretold that the Fourth of July would be celebrated as a great national festival from that day, died fifty years after, on the anniversary of his country's freedom. Jefferson, who penned the Declaration of Independence, departed on the same day and nearly at the same hour with his venerable contemporary. There was something peculiarly beautiful in the decease of these two men on the fiftieth anniversary of our freedom. Both had been prominent agents in bringing about our independence. Both had been Presidents of the United States. Both had seen the Republic completes its first half century. Both had been bitter enemies at one time, but had since become reconciled, and now departed like brothers, from the world. Nor do these wonderful and affecting instances stop here. Monroe, another President, died also on the Fourth of July. Washington died just as the eighteenth century went down to its grave. A majesty seemed to preside over the deaths of others, which gave their last words a talismanic power. Lawrence died murmuring "Don't give up the ship!" Pike, who fell at Port, asked for the captured flag of the British, placed it under his head as a pillow, and exclaimed, "I die happy." Harrison died, repeating, "The Constitution, the Constitution!" Jackson, just before he expired, exclaimed, "No compromise, except at the cannon's mouth!" Madison died murmuring the union of the country. And John Quincy Adams, dying in the Senate House—a noble destiny—exclaimed, "This is the last of earth—I am content." Where can we can furnish parallels to these? Here we have in real life that which rivals the fabulous deaths of Rome. The greatness of our men have died in a manner so remarkable, [illegible] comes over us in reference to the manner of their decease. We feel the [illegible] Annals of American History.

DISTRICT UNION CONVENTION.

In pursuance of a Resolution of the Union Central Committee, adopted June 27th, 1865, by which it was

Resolved, That the members of the said County Committee, within the Districts of said County, Nos. two and three, should act respectively in each as a District Committee, until the election in each of a District Committee, and for that purpose should issue all necessary calls for District Conventions, and designate a time of holding Primary Elections for the selection of delegates to District and Township Conventions.

It is, therefore, Ordered by the undersigned, being the members of said County Central Committee within and for Supervisor and Revenue District No. Two that a District Convention be held at Illinoistown on Wednesday, July 26th, 1865, at 11 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of nominating one Supervisor from said District, and that the members of the Union party within said District assemble at the places at which the Polls of the last General Election were opened

On Saturday, July 22d, 1865,

For the purpose of electing delegates to said Convention; and it is further recommended that the delegates so elected within Townships No. 3 and 4 respectively, do, at the time herein designated, assemble at Township Conventions for the purpose of nominating in each of said Townships, two Justices of the Peace, two Constables, and one Road Commissioner.

THE UNION CHURCH.—The new Union Church of this place will be dedicated to divine service on Sunday, the 30th instant, and at a meeting of the Trustees, held on the 7th instant, the following order was made:

That ministers of all denominations be and they are hereby cordially invited to attend and participate in the ceremonies of dedication.

We hear that several ministers of different churches have been invited, and doubtless the ceremonies will be interesting and instructive.

Since writing the above we have learned that Rev. Mr. Charlton, of the Baptist Church, has expressed his intention of being present on the occasion.

SUPPRESSED.—We learn that at the primary that was supposed to have been held at Gold Run, Ed. Gaylord and Sam Hartiman received a majority of the votes, but the managers refused to forward either of these gentlemen their credentials until after the Convention had met and adjourned. Now, when the people meet in their majesty and might for the purpose of delegating their rights to any one of their fellow citizens, we condemn in the strongest terms any action on the part of those selected to carry out the people's will to be guilty of such high-handed, outrageous and diabolical tyranny. We cannot believe, however, that any of our friends at the Run would be guilty of such despotism, and incline to the opinion that the gentlemen named were the victims of a practical joke well played, for all who know those five staunch Unionists are well satisfied that they would be the last to ever take part in a Bolters' Convention.

PROMOTION.—The election of delegates is advertised to take place to-night, and our citizens who have an abiding interest in the welfare of the county, the success of the Union cause, and the perpetuation of the principles of free institutions should bestir themselves in order to send men to the District Convention who are known to be staunch, reliable Unionists, men who, notwithstanding the crushing out of the rebellion, believe that there are great and vital issues yet before the people; men who are willing to preserve the organization of the Union party as the only efficient agent to the principles of a nation that has been baptized in blood, and her treasury been depleted to the last dollar; for which our patriots to-day are submitting to an enormous tax and exerting their energies to an unprecedented extent that our many institutions may live, and that these principles be a beacon light to the down-trodden of all nations of the earth. In view of the responsibility of the delegates who will to-night be elected, we counsel a close scrutiny on the part of the people as to whom they delegate their power. Officers are to be nominated who will go a great way either to make or mar the welfare and prosperity, not only of our township, but of the county, and our people should, in consideration of the high trust, built by appointment and election, during the past three years, see to it that persons desirous of their own business, and not saddle themselves any longer with the support of men both incompetent and unreliable. Men who have heretofore proceeded to act with the Union party, are now blatant as to their intentions to run independent, provided they fail to receive their nomination at the Union of the Convention. In other words, they care nothing for the organization of the Union party provided they do not receive the "loaves and fishes." With such an expression, we opine, completely lets these fossils appear, we probably fix their political status sufficiently for future, will probably relieve the people of further watching of these friends and hypocritical renegades.

THE SLOPPAGE on the Excelsior Consolidated claim stands through to the ledge on Thursday and found the rock handsomely rich.

NEW FIRM.—Messrs. Wallace and Pashen, having purchased the interest of Mr. St. Clair in the Union Market, are now candidates for public favor. They are both industrious, worthy men, and we hope they may receive that patronage to which their merit entitles them.

THE BOLTERS.

Always possessing a strong desire and taste for the study of the historical biography of distinguished individuals, we have of late been much interested, if not instructed, in the study of the social and political career of Placer's renowned bolters, and we propose to publish for the diversion and edification of our readers, a brief sketch of our researches. Every effect produces a cause, and every student will search for the probable cause which has produced the effect which he witnesses. We inquire then what caused the bolt? and answer: The restless ambition of brainless office-seekers, who have already been allowed by a bamboozled people to serve them as high functionaries and glut and gormandize themselves upon the public pap. What is the object to be attained? This: A division of the Union party in all those counties where, at the Regular Union Conventions anti-Low-Conness men received nominations, and this, in order that the Copperheads in said counties will either elect their own legislative ticket, or joining the bolters, elect a Low ticket.—Every so-called Democrat who is elected will be excluded from the Union caucus upon informal ballots for United States Senator.

Citizens, do you see the point? Are you willing that this game should proceed, and the people again be euchred? Shall those who have defied the Government during the darkest hour of her adversity, stamped all her acts as tyrannical, and retarded, to the best of their ability, all her efforts to preserve her existence—shall those men be encouraged and empowered to forward the end and aims of bad ambition? No; let us stand firm by the old organization.—What means have been provided, or resorted to, to carry out this nefarious scheme? First: money has been liberally strewed around—mind, the same money which has been paid by the people to their public servants as perquisites of office—has been, and is being, used as a wedge to sunder the Union party and elevate unworthy men. Who are the recipients of this bounty? Who donates it? Low & Co.

We arrive at the conclusion, then, that money, and men who are willing to be bought and sold, are the means used to do this work, and in our next issue we will give those unscrupulous men among us, as we have proposed, a special notice.

LETTER FROM GOLD RUN.

GOLD RUN, July 20th, 1865.

EDITOR ENQUIRER:—Did you ever sit down to write when you had nothing in the world to write about? If so, you can fully appreciate the blissful state of my feelings at the present moment. I have mechanically taken a pen in my hand, for the purpose of saying something with it, but what that something may turn out to be, is as yet a matter of considerable uncertainty with me. The first thought that strikes the contemplative stranger when approaching Gold Run just now is that some individual of importance and distinction has suddenly departed this life, and that the town has assumed a sombre aspect suitable to the occasion. Upon inquiry however, he will find that it is not the "dread reaper" which is, for the time being at least, depopulating our streets. The whole place has been visited by an epidemic, which although it attacks people in large numbers is not considered fatal to any great extent, as after the heat of the fever is over they generally recover. Quartzomania I believe is the term given by the medical faculty to this dreadful malady, from the fact that people become possessed of an uncontrollable desire to discover quartz and consequently relinquish home, friends and kindred for the purpose of prosecuting their researches.

Meadow Lake is the point to which these monomaniacs are instinctively drawn, and instead of the usual topics of conversation "how many inches of water are you using?" "What is the pressure?" &c., &c. one's ears are constantly saluted with endless interrogations such as "How do the croppings look?" "How far are you in with your tunnel?" "How does the ledge pitch?" &c., &c. I wish these adventurous prospectors all manner of success, but at the same time I look for the return of a good many to a country where the ground is not quite so hard as at Meadow Lake. You must not by any means understand that everybody has got quartz on the brain in this neighborhood; our claims are paying quite as well as ever they did. For instance, L. W. Church cleaned up lately after a run of nine days, with a result of $1300, and Doctor Palmer after subjecting his flumes to a like operation, extracted therefrom, somewhere about $2000, after a run of twenty days. Several other companies also cleaned up but I was unable to learn the results. Emigrants from the East and other places seem to have taken a particular fancy to Gold Run, and the fact that some of them are commencing to build, would appear to indicate that they mean remaining here; there are also a good many teamsters on this road at present, which makes the town livelier than it would otherwise be, and creates a friendly rivalry between the two hotels here, as to which shall accommodate these itinerant gentlemen in the best manner, and most approved style. Mr. Hackett tells me that hitherto, his new house has been somewhat disorganized by carpenters, but that in a very short time he will have it all finished up in good style.

We occasionally enliven the evenings here by short political discussions, having reference to the coming election. Of course there is a variety of opinion upon this subject, but there seems to be a general understanding that a majority of the people will vote the Regular Union Ticket. Mr. Bradley's chances for State Senator are I think extremely good; at all events, the miners in this section seem to place considerable confidence in him. When I tell you that the two Water Companies continue to supply almost as much water as they did in the earlier part of the season, that they expect to be able to do so for an indefinite time, and that this is a source of immense satisfaction to the miners, I think I shall have exhausted my budget of news for this week. QUID NUNC.

STILL THEY DECLINE.—All the honest men nominated for office at the Bolters' Convention are declining the nominations. The following letter explains itself:

RATTLESNAKE, July 18th, 1865.

Dear Sir: Please publish a notice in my name that I respectfully decline the nomination of Public Administrator. By doing so you will oblige,

Yours,
S. BECK.

WE publish on the first page of this issue a doggerel effusion of humorous and harmless satire upon some of the doings on the Fourth of July, from the pen of one who evidently has a keen appreciation of the ridiculous. It was handed in last week, but too late for insertion. Should any one find himself, hit, and get "on the shoot," we hereby inform them that we are not responsible for the article, don't wish to be made a "corpus," and desire to keep our head so that we may dabble in feet.

JUSTICE'S COURT.—Edward Ford was tried before the Justice on Thursday last, for assault and battery upon James Mahaffey of Green Valley. No extenuating circumstances appearing from the evidence, Ford was fined $100. By an effort of the counsel for the defendant, the fine was reduced to $50 and costs.

Yesterday, Ned, the driver, was arrested for allowing Tom the hostler, both of the California Stage Co., to run against an iron wrench some two or three times, which Ned held in his hand for that purpose, was also fined $100 and costs.

LETTER FROM WISCONSIN HILL.

WISCONSIN HILL, July 17th, 1865.

EDITOR ENQUIRER.—I have searched in vain through the columns of your valuable paper for a notice therein of our little place, about the doings of the last Fourth of July; [Didn't know you had any fourth; thought it was killed here.—ED. ENQ.] and consequently resolved to take the matter into my own hands, and be for once in my life a correspondent to a newspaper. By the burning of Mr. Young's residence, of this place, some time ago, the two flags and the only ones our little community possessed were destroyed by the fire, and as the Fourth was approaching slowly but surely, it was suggested that we ought to have another flag; but how and where, were the questions, but, "where there is a will there is always a way" is the old maxim, and so it was with our little but loyal and patriotic community. Through the prompt action of Mr. Brown and Mr Young, a subscription list was circulated, and in a short time the desired funds were obtained to purchase the necessary materials; but how were we going to get the flag finished? Were we poor bachelors obliged to set up day and night and sew with a needle in order to finish the same, so to be able to display our patriotism on the glorious Fourth? of course not!

The ladies of this place, "God bless them," who are always ready to lend a helping hand on such occasions, took hold of the matter, and of course finished she flag in time for the Fourth. These ladies of whom I will mention those I know are Mrs. Brown, Mrs. and Miss Morrison, Mrs. McKee, and Mrs. Irish, worked with untiring patience day and night, for the banner is I believe forty feet long and twenty-six feet wide, and one can imagine what a tedious and hard job it was, and the skillful and tasty work on the same shows that the ladies are mistresses of their art, for which they deserve the thanks of the whole community.

When the first rays of the sun on the morning of the Fourth kissed the mountain peaks, the anvil of Prospect Hill aroused everybody out of the arms of "Morpheus," immediately the boys of this place responded, then came Iowa Hill, next Yankee Jims and Forest Hill, and a continual roaring and thundering was kept up for one hour; meantime the flag was got ready, when amid the cheers of the small party present it was raised to the top of as high a pole, as I believe is to be found in the State. Once more the anvils poured forth their song of praise, to God and man, the birds chirped merrily in the chorus, and three more cheers for the Union and Liberty, everybody went to his abode rejoicing. I am sorry however that the affair in behalf of the ladies was not as appropriate as it ought to have been; I think a little speech by the ladies and a response and thanks by the citizens, would be copied in my correspondence, if the boys had only given the ladies a chance to be present. In the evening the lovers of the dance, including your humble correspondent went to a ball at Iowa Hill given by Mr. Schmidt of that place, and "where youth and beauty meet to chase away the idle hours with flying feet," of which "Cuanto" has already given a true sketch.

Our local news is not of much importance. The palmiest days of Wisconsin Hill are gone. Mr. Brown has opened a fine wholesale and retail store, the only one here, and is a great convenience to the people in his vicinity, and I hope a profitable business for himself. The town still supports two barrooms and a telegraph office, how they can make a profitable business, I can't for the life of me comprehend. The mining around here continues with some profit. The hydraulic claims will be without water soon, and then a dull time may be expected. The Morning Star Co. have their tunnel in I understand eighteen hundred feet, and are now erecting an eight stamp mill, with which they intend stamping their pay dirt; they will commence "breasting" soon with twenty men. The Lebanon Mining Co. have their tunnel in nineteen hundred feet, and had a wash up with fair returns; they continue to keep their everlasting tunnel running ahead steady, and as soon as they find day dirt enough are also going to erect a mill; it may be of interest to know that this company have been running their tunnel steady since 1854, they certainly deserve success. Having nothing more to write about, I will close until something more interesting turns up. K.

You are welcome to our columns; we hope you will correspond as often as the spirit moves you, if not oftener.

THE CIRCUS.—By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Messrs. Cooke, Wilson & Zoyara's Circus will be here on Tuesday next, and will favor our citizens with one of their grand performances on that evening. From the flattering notices of the press throughout the State, we judge that their performances have given every satisfaction to their audiences, and we hope that a full attendance of our people may greet them at the pavilion. Our old friend Alexander, the indefatigable, is the advance agent, and he never yet traveled for a poor show.

UNITED STATES 7-30 LOAN.

BY AUTHORITY OF THE SECRETARY OF THE Treasury, the undersigned has assumed the General Subscription Agency for the sale of United States Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three-tenths per cent. interest per annum, known as the

SEVEN-THIRTY LOAN.

These Notes are issued under date June 15th, 1865, and are payable three years from that time, in currency, or are convertible, at the option of the holder, into

United States 5-20 Six per cent.

GOLD BEARING BONDS

These bonds are now worth a premium of nine per cent. including gold interest from November, which makes the actual profit on the 7-30 loan at current rates, including interest, about 10 per cent. per annum, besides its EXEMPTION FROM STATE AND MUNICIPAL TAXATION, WHICH ADDS FROM ONE TO THREE PER CENT. MORE, according to the rate levied on other property. The interest is payable in currency semi-annually, by coupons attached to each note which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

The interest amounts to

One cent per day on a $50 note.
Two cents per day on a $100 note.
Ten cents per day on a $500 note.
Twenty cents per day on a $1,000 note.
One dollar per day on a $5,000 note.

Notes of all denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscriptions. This is now offered by the Government, and it is confidently expected that its superior advantages will make it the Great Popular Loan of the People.

THE ONLY LOAN IN MARKET

Less than $300,000,000 of the loan authorized by the last Congress, are now on the market.

This amount at the rate at which it is being absorbed, will all be subscribed for within four months, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscription to other Loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loans, the National Bank, State Banks, and Private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive orders.

PACIFIC CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of this company, held at their office, July 13th, the President, Leland Stanford, presented the following report:

To the stockholders of the Central Pacific Railroad Company: At our last annual meeting held October 8th, 1864, I found occasion to congratulate you upon the progress of our enterprise, its condition and prospects. Though in all respects the progress, for reasons that will appear, has not been as rapid as we had anticipated, yet it has progressed fairly, and in its present condition and prospects are not less bright than at our former meeting. Indeed, they are far brighter. Much of what we had hoped then has been realized; the financial problem which was then pressing upon us for solution has been solved, and the result is abundant financial means to press forward the work to its utmost development. Now, the question which addresses itself with most force upon our consideration is one of labor; that is gradually being answered satisfactorily. For want of funds we were not able to employ a large force of laborers in construction until the first of last January. From that time to this there has been employed in construction all the labor that could be obtained. For the months of January, February and March the force, with great efforts to increase it, did not probably average above five hundred men, and they, owing to the wet weather, could not labor above half the time. Since then we have had more favorable weather, and an average force of about two thousand. At present there is a force of about twenty-five hundred men employed and the number is being daily increased, so much so that in connection with several favorable causes, we think it probable that the force this season can be increased to five thousand. An important element in labor is found in our Chinese population. Of this class of laborers there are now engaged in construction about two thousand. They are found to be good laborers and, at the price at which they are to be had, full as cheap as any other. Regular and prompt pay, with kind usage, secure their confidence, and it is probable, from the Chinese population of our State we shall be able to obtain to the extent that white labor shall prove inadequate, the necessary force to prosecute the work vigorously. We are employing, and shall employ all the white, Chinese, or other labor that offers.

It is now nine months since our last annual meeting. For the first three but little work was performed, and for the next three, for the causes above alluded to, not a great deal. Yet we have been able to complete the work to Clipper Gap, a distance of twelve miles above Newcastle, and have the work on the next twelve in so forward a condition that it will probably be completed and the cars doing business over it as early as the 15th of September next. We shall then be operating in all fifty-six miles of road and reached an elevation of 2,448 feet, or over one-third of the entire elevation to be overcome in crossing the mountains. Of the present force engaged in construction, the most of it, together with what it may be increased, can be placed as early as the middle of August on the work between Illinoistown and Dutch Flat, which place we expect to reach by the first of next April and have much work done beyond that point. Indeed, by the time of our next annual meeting, should we not be disappointed in obtaining labor, we shall have the cars running to Crystal Lake, twenty miles above Dutch Flat and within fifteen miles of the summit. Complete surveys have been made for this distance, and the work found of a more favorable character than had been anticipated. There are three corps of engineers now engaged in making surveys beyond this last mentioned point, one of which will commence this week to survey from Donner Lake eastwardly and laying the track without waiting until the road can be constructed from this side to that point. By pursuing the course indicated we may expect to have the entire road completed from this side to Salt Lake in three years from this season. The grading can proceed on the other side of the mountains without retarding the work on this, and by the time the season will permit the transportation of iron over the mountains at low freights next year, the railroad will have reached a distance on this side from whence iron can be transported by teams to where the track will commence on the other side for from ten to fifteen dollars per ton. There will be, of course, more cost besides this in construction, beyond what there would be if we waited until the road was constructed over the mountains; but this will be more than counterbalanced by the benefits to be derived from its use. Besides, while conscious of the immense benefits to be derived to the company by the use of the road on the other side, with the consequent increase of business by the settlement and development of the vast mineral region the road will penetrate, it should not be forgotten that our enterprise is one of a State and national character, and that we have a duty in this respect which will not permit us to do anything less than is in our power to hasten its completion. As a pecuniary matter to the company, I am confident its benefits cannot be exaggerated; and it should be a matter of pride, if possible, to overcome the Sierras and reach Salt Lake, to greet our brethren of the East upon their arrival there. It does not seem that there need necessarily be more than three years from the present to witness this great and happy event.

That we are financially fully warranted in pushing the work to the extent proposed will be seen from our present assets, together with those to be derived from the National Government.

The Act of Congress granting aid to the Pacific Railroad was beneficially amended at the last session of Congress by allowing the company to make their first mortgage bonds payable in gold coin, both principal and interest. This will make our first mortgage bonds among the most desirable securies, as they will be of the best to be offered in the market.

We have now on hand Placer and Sacramento county bond (gold)—eight per cents.....	$238,500
Bonds on which the State pays seven per cent. interest in gold.....	1,475,000
San Francisco county bonds (gold) seven per cent.....	285,000
United States bonds, six per cents.....	1,238,000
Making a total of.....	$3,236,500

On which the company draws an annual interest of $216,300.

In addition to this there will be due the company on completion of the work to the station at Illinoistown Government bonds amounting to $1,200,000; and which, in view of the speedy completion of that work, may be considered, for practical purposes, as assets immediately available.

Issuing first mortgage bonds, as authorized by Act of Congress, though we should limit their issue to completed road, by the middle of September, and we shall have from this source, 2,458,000.

Besides, we are authorized to issue first mortgage bonds to the extent of one hundred miles in advance of a completed line.

Thus, it will be seen that the company have as assets, immediately available, without issuing first mortgage bonds to beyond what is authorized to be issued on completed road.....$2,458,000
Government bonds on work under construction..... 1,200,000
Placer, Sacramento and San Francisco county bonds, and bonds on which the State pays interest..... 3,236,500
Making a total of..... $6,894,500

In consequence of the suppression of the rebellion, the Government bonds are appreciating in value; from the prosecution of the work our other bonds are also appreciating; consequently we have not thought it advisable to sell this class of bonds. To prosecute the work, aside from proceeds of bonds sold, we have made loans. With the means on hand and the Government bonds to be derived as the work progresses, and first mortgage bonds on one hundred miles in advance of construction, at will of the company, it is fully warranted in considering itself able to overcome the Sierras as rapidly as possible, and in undertaking the work beyond. It is not to be anticipated that there will be in the future any delay in obtaining the Government bonds when due.

The bonds on the first thirty-one miles were due last September, but we did not receive them until the 12th day of May, though the most strenuous efforts were made to procure them at an earlier day. In consequence of injurious reports made by the antagonists of our road, the bonds upon which the State pays interest were not available for use until the 1st of January, when the Supreme Court decided their legality. The bonds from the city and county of San Francisco, from the pertinacious and unscrupulous opposition of our enemies, after much litigation, were obtained on the 72th day of April.

No disposition has as yet been made of the lands of the company. It has been thought advisable before doing so to wait for the receipt of a patent. Over 50,000 acres have been listed to the company by the United States Land Office. As the railroad progresses the lands will become more valuable; soon we shall find them yielding largely in the shape of freight. We are now close to a fine lumber region.

The general business of the road is constantly increasing; the gross earnings for the month of June amount to $31,456,66, though we were not fairly in condition to do a freighting business to Clipper Gap before the middle of that month. The road is daily increasing in its local business, as also the business over the mountains. With its further extension this will be increased until all is secured. The report of the Secretary will give a detailed statement of the road since last annual meeting.

The construction of the Pacific Railroad will prove what our lamented President predicted—that our country will be the treasury of the world. The vast country west of the Rocky Mountains, with its teeming mineral wealth, will be settled up by an industrious population that will develop its wealth. The Pacific coast will feel its exhilirating influence; the arts, commerce and agriculture will flourish; population will be increased, and there will be a numerous, powerful and prosperous people on this extreme west of our country, bound to the Union by interest and the strongest fraternal and patriotic ties. The whole nation, and in fact the entire civilized world, will feel the benign influence of the Pacific Railroad. With this great incentive, let your energies be applied with the utmost force to overcoming the gigantic obstacles you have to encounter, and complete the work to Salt Lake in 1868, and with new bonds help bind together our country, now so gloriously restored to peace. We have a Government and a country beyond compare. A Government of the people and for the people alone; a country devoted to freedom, lovely and grand; a soil and climate conspiring to furnish untold blessings. Let us rejoice that we have an opportunity to do something towards strengthening, aiding and developing one or all of them—to do all in our power in this respect. If we need further incentive, we shall find it in the best interests of our company.

CALIFORNIANS should test the merits of DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Were it not highly palatable as a beverage, it is unequalled as a tonic and invigorator. In the pursuit of fortune at the mines, many persons are exposed to the attacks of complaints of the digestives organs, and various kinds of fever. It is the very article that has so long been in demand in the mines. Its daily use will restore the tone of a deranged stomach, impart fresh vitality to the digestive functions, and cheer the spirits. Yet the Bitters is the safest of all stimulants. Let the miner who is exposed to hot and dry, wet and cold, be certain to obtain a supply of the genuine Hostetter Bitter, and he will find it a certain safeguard to health. (jel7-1m

HOPE FOR THE AFFLICTED.—In another part of this paper will be found the advertisement of the celebrated Institute established by Dr. J. C. Young in 1850. In this age of deceit and charlatanism it is a boon to the suffering to point out to them where they are sure of obtaining the wished for relief and cure. Under the care of the skillful Doctor the sick and troubled can divest themselves of their burdens of pain; lay aside their cross, and secure health and happiness. If you are sick or in trouble, do not hesitate. Read the advertisement and follow the advice. Do not forget the number nor the manner of directing your letters. Consultation Office, 540, Washington street, San Francisco. my5-3m

Medical Advice.—DR. WM. K. DOHERTY'S Medical and Surgical Institute is becoming a sine qua non to the welfare of our State and health of our citizens; and his rapidly spreading reputation, although it may excite surprise, is but the signal of skill, and follows as the natural result of such a cause. We are personally acquainted with gentlemen who had suffered for years under chronic disease, and who had taken advantage of every available means that promised relief, but without success, until they called upon Dr. Doherty who, in an incredibly short space of time, has given them entire relief. It is gratifying to announce this fact, because the Dr. is a gentleman who seeks, not by defamation of others, to establish his reputation or ruin of another's fame. The Doctor conducts his own Institute in such a manner that must be gratifying to all his patients. He examines, advises, and recommends without charge, and the patient, after hearing his terms for treatment, can accept or reject at pleasure. In no case does the Doctor make a charge, unless he effects a cure. This he is able to do, because he feels the confidence which long experience has given, and no doubt the consolation which appertains to that confidence. Persons afflicted with either acute or chronic disease, would do well to consult the Doctor; at all events, it can do no harm, as for consultation he asks no fee; nor does he insist on obedience to his advice unless the patient proves himself under his care. His offices are on Sacramento street, opposite the Pacific Mail Steamship office.—S. F. News.

DRAWING NEARER.

BY G. RIE VERNON.

Nearer to the shores of promise;
Nearer to the fields of green;
Nearer where the living waters
Roll in waves of crystal sheen.
Nearer where the blessed mansions,
Built to shelter all who come,
Rise in stately, fair proportions;
Nearer to our heavenly home.

Nearer to the walls of jasper;
Nearer to the gates of pearl:
Even now I see their watch-guard
Their seraphic pinions furl!
While the echo of their voices
Floats e'en to the earthly shore,
As they sing in rapturous numbers,
"Death and sin and pain are o'er!"

Nearer to the blessed knowledge
Which I've learned but ill below,
Blinded by the sin and folly
Blent with many a mortal woe.
Scanty here has been the foretaste
Of those "joys laid up in store;"
But I feel them drawing nearer,
Soon, oh, soon, I'll want no more!

Nearer glory, nearer Jesus,
Nearer friends long "gone before:"
But soon across the river,
And we'll meet to part no more!
Stronger blow, O waiting breezes!
Nearer, swelling billows, roll!
Waft me to the land of promise,—
To the blest, immortal goal!

MINISTERS INVITED.—Appearances indicate that the Church will be ready for dedication at the time appointed, the last Sabbath in the month, July 30th. We have heard of at least three leading clergymen from abroad that have been invited to conduct the services of dedication, namely, Rev. Mr. Hill, Episcopalian, Rev. Mr Charlton, Baptist, from Sacramento, and Rev. Mr. Fackler, O. S. Presbyterian, San Francisco. We have no doubt the dedication of the new church will be an occasion of much interest to our people and to the friends in the neighborhood. All are cordially invited to attend. Good music will also add much to the enjoyment of the services.

THE LAST TIME.—There will be meeting as usual at the school-house to-morrow, July 23rd. at half past ten o'clock. We hope that this will be the last time that it will be necessary to meet in the school-house for divine worship.

PREACHING IN GOLD RUN.—There will be preaching in the Gold Run Schoolhouse next Sabbath, July 23rd, at 2½ P. M.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

Recent numbers of the Canadian papers inform us that the Rev. Mr. Cameron, Protestant clergyman, who has gained a certain notoriety by his zeal in behalf of the rebels, and who recently attracted general attention by openly expressing joy over the assassination of President Lincoln, has been received into the Roman Catholic Church. The same step, it is stated, has been taken by Dr. Blackburn, who is now under trial for conceiving the fiendish plan of importing, by means of infected rags, the yellow fever into New York.

Lieutenant Young, also, the chief of the Vermont raiders and bank robbers, has declared that he is utterly dissatisfied with Protestantism, and has a decided preference for Roman Catholicism.

Mrs. Surratt, whose house was the rendevous of the assassinators of President Lincoln, and who swore when her house was searched that she did not know Payne, and had never seen him, while at the very moment he was in sight of her, and had been a regular visitor of the house since February, is a devout member of the Roman Catholic Church, who has been accustomed to go to confession every other week.

The instigators of the bloody riots in New York, in 1863, were known to be so preeminately Roman Catholic, that the Archbishop of New York expected that his word would have a soothing influence upon them, and invited them to meet before his house and hear an address from him.

While the entire Protestant press of all denominations has been almost a unit in loyally supporting the government, the great majority of the Roman Catholic periodicals have distinguished themselves by factions and violent opposition to the government and open sympathy with the rebellion. The Herald and Visitor, of Philadelphia, used language so violent and abusive, that it was openly censured by some of the bishops, and had to be discontinued. The Monitor, of San Francisco, has recently been mobbed, being regarded as one of the most obnoxious rebel sheets. The Baltimore Mirror has always been in sympathy with the party who intended to carry Maryland over to the Southern Confederacy. In Missouri there is hardly a Roman Catholic in the party which, after so desperate a struggle, saved Missouri for the Union and freed it from the bane of slavery. The Catholic vote of the State was almost a unit against the measures looking towards emancipation. The only pro-slavery member in the next Congress from Missouri, is the publisher of the Catholic organ of the State. We need not again speak of the attitude of the Freeman's Journal and the Metropolitan Record, of this city. Whoever has read a few numbers of either of these periodicals, especially the latter, will have seen that if a paper here in the North wished the success of the rebels, the overthrow of the laws of the land, insurrection and revolution, and the removal by force of the President twice chosen by the people, it could not have spoken more to the point than these two did.

The Catholic organs of all the countries of Europe have been nearly unanimous in wishing success to the rebels. The Monde, in Paris, the leading ultramontane paper of the world; the Weekly Register, of London, the Tablet, of Dublin, and nearly all the Catholic papers of Germany, have expressed about our war the same views which we used to find in the rebel journals of Richmond.

Of all the governments in the world, there is only one which has entered into a direct correspondence with the government of the rebel Confederacy, and which has given to Jefferson Davis the title of "most illustrious President." This only government is that of the Pope.

We naturally ask, What does it all mean? Some of the facts which we have mentioned in the first part of our article may be somewhat modified by later reports. We have stated them as we find them floating in the papers, though we believe every one of them to be true.

What we have said about the riots, the Catholic press, and the relations of the Pope to Jefferson Davis, are well-known facts of history. Can the Roman Catholics point to any religious denomination—Christian or non-Christian—which has exhibited an equal amount of hostility to the United States, and which on this very ground has gained the friendship of all our deadly foes.—N. Y. Methodist.

OUT AT NIGHT.—Fathers and mothers look out for your boys when the shades of evening have gathered around you! Where are they then? Are they at home, at the pleasant, social fireside, or are they running in the streets? Are they gaining a street education? If so, take care, the chances of their ruin are many. There is scarcely anything more destructive to their morals than running about at night. Under cover of darkness they acquire the education of crime; they learn to be rowdyish, if not absolutely vicious; they catch up loose talk, they hear sinful thoughts, they seek obscene things, they become reckless and riotous. If you would save them from vulgarity, save them from ruin, save them from prison, see to it that night finds them at home. More than one young man has told the chaplain of the State Prison that here was the beginning of his downward course, which finally brought him to the prison's cell. Let parents solemnly ponder this matter, and do what they can to make home attractive for all the children, so attractive that the boys will prefer it to roaming the streets. There is no place like home in more senses than one—certainly, no place like home for boys in the evening.

TRIFLES.—A Virginia paper says that several members of the Legislature took the cars late one evening for Wheeling. Among the number was Mr. G., a man of somewhat large proportions, physical, and Mr. D. of proportionate undersize. The two took a berth together in a sleeping car—the little man lying behind and the good-natured, waggish Mr. Mr. G. in front. D. was soon sleeping and snoring furiously. G., more restless, rose and was sitting by the stove, when an elderly lady came in and desired a sleeping-berth. "All right, Madam," said G., "I took a berth with my son, and you may take my place in that berth where my little boy is now sleeping." Taking G. at his word, the lady disrobed and laid down with the "little boy." After a brief interval of repose, D. became restless and began to kick round, to the annoyance of the old lady. So in a maternal manner, she patted the boy on the back, saying, "Lie still, sonny; pa said I might sleep with you." D. bounced up: "H—ll and d——nation! who are you? I'm no boy! I'm a member of the West Virginia Legislature!" It is said that the old lady swooned, G. was inflicted with a violent and prolonged fit of internal agitation, while D. swears that G. shall be impeached.

A WARD.—A. Ward gets off the following sketches:

Jeff. Davis is not pollar here. She is regarded as a Southern sympathizer. & yit I'm tole he was kind to his parents. She ran away from 'em many years ago, and has never been bak. This was showin' 'em a good deal of consideration when we reflect what his conduck has bin. Her captur in female apparel confooses me in regard to his sex, & you see I speak of him as a her as frekent as otherwise, and I guess he feels so himself.

Robert Lee is regarded as a noble feller. He was opposed to the war at the fust, and draw'd his sword very reluctant. In fact, he would'nt hev drawd his sword at all, only he had a large stock of military clos on hand, which he did'nt want to waste. He sez the colored man is right, and he will at once go to New York and open a Sabbath School for negro minstrels.

The surrender of R. Lee, J. Johnson and others leaves the Confederit Army in a ruther shattered state. The army now consists of Kirby Smith, four mules and a Bas drum, and is movin rapidly to'rds Texis.

JEFF'S GARMENTS.—The female attire, says a telegram, in which Jeff hoped to make his escape, was carried to Washington, May 25th, by Col. Pritchard, of the 4th Michigan Cavalry, who captured the arch-traitor. It consists of a large iron-grey water-proof tweed cloak, with a belt to confine it at his waist, and somewhat worn; a black shawl, with scroll-work border, which was thrown over Davis' head and drawn up over his whiskers, nearly hiding his features. In this attitude, and with a tin water pail in his hand, the would-be dictator sought to sneak away, when his boots betrayed him, and he was bagged. After Col. Pritchard had exhibited this feminine costume to the Secretary of War, Senators Foot and Wilson, and Gov. Fennon and other gentlemen who happened to be at the War Department, it was sent to Gardner, the Photographer. He found a man about the size and build of Jeff. Davis, and having first seen that he had on a pair of high boots, he put on the cloak and shawl, and giving him a water pail, obtained a good photograph of the appearance of the fugitive President of the burst-up Confederacy.

WELL.—The Marysville folks are talking about boirng an artesian well similar to that at Stockton which cost the city $10,000 and is worth four times tnat sum. We hope the Marysville people won't be bored about the well until they get the railroad built, and then, when they do commence, they will not grow weary in well doing.

MISCELLANEOUS ADVERTISEMENTS.

QUICK CURES AND SMALL CHARGES

THE ELECTROPATHIC INSTITUTE,
645 Washington St., San Francisco,
ESTABLISHED FEBRUARY, 1860, BY AN ASSOCIATION OF SCIENTIFIC GENTLEMEN, FOR CURE OF DISEASES AND THE SUPPRESSION OF QUACKERY.

Truths for the Afflicted.

This splendid establishment was inaugurated in February, 1860, by an association of Scientific gentlemen, that there might be a Medical Establishment in San Francisco, where the afflicted could find scientific and honorable, as well as humane treatment. Outrageous Quackery had so long run rampant over afflicted humanity that all confidence was being lost in the Medical Profession, and it was time that there should be an Institute where the afflicted could apply with the certainty of honorable and Scientific treatment. And the result has thus far exceeded the most sanguine expectations of its founders.

Thousands have been made to rejoice in returned health, who had been trifled with by the numerous vampires that abound upon this coast, the chief of whom has been obliged to close out and leave the country; but still there are some left of whom the afflicted should beware.

The basis of the treatment at the Institute is the Electropathic System. The Physician and Surgeon who has been a Professor in one of the best Medical Colleges in America, and who has made a special study of Chronic Diseases for the last fifteen years, is thoroughly qualified to treat by medicine, and will warrant a perfect and permanent cure in the shortest possible time. All long-standing cases of disease no matter what may be their nature, give way under the course of treatment pursued at the Institute, and the result is perfect health and a strengthened constitution where it has been injured.

It would be useless to enumerate the diseases, as it would be occupying space to no purpose. Every nameable complaint to which humanity is liable can be cured by the Faculty at the Institute.

No mercury is used upon any consideration. All medicines prescribed are vegetable, and in cases where the patient can remain in the city, and wishes to be treated by Electricity, no medicines will be used. All medicines are electrized, which makes them much more active, and destroys all nauseous taste, making them as palatable as wine.

The Directors wish to speak of specialities more extensively than of other complaints, because empirics have used more deception about them than they have about the regular troubles of the human family. And first on the list is that dreadful malady denominated Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, a complaint which not only affects the body with pain and lassitude, making life a burden, but affects the brain, creating Insanity. It drives more men to the mad house than all other diseases added together. By the Electropathic System this terrible trouble gives way, and the hitherto emaciated victim is made to rejoice in perfect health.

Next upon the list is Venereal, in all of its terrible forms and phases.

It is impossible to paint this disease in colors sufficiently terrible to do it justice. It is the most awful disease to which the human family is liable, and if not arrested when active, making him a loathsome mass of living corruption. It is also one of the most insidious diseases in the world. While the exterior shows no symptom, the horrible disease is sapping the foundations of life, preparing to attack its vital parts, as soon as the patient shall by some indiscretion weaken the system. Reader, if you have ever had this awful disease in any form whatever, call at once at the Institute, and the physician there will examine you and tell you if you have any of the virus in your blood. In such cases consultations are always gratis, and should you have any of the dreadful complaint about you, a cure will be warranted in a short time, or no charges will be made for services.

Strictures.

This terrible affection, which badly affects the nervous system as to prevent sound and health giving sleep, should be attended to in its early stages, or an operation both painful and dangerous will have to be resorted to. It is usually first indicated by darting pains in the parts, but very light and hardly noticeable at first, increasing gradually, until they become troublesome, sometimes accompanied by slight irritations in the passage of urine.—A quick cure is easily performed at the Institute if early application is made.

To Females.

Your delicate organizations should be treated with great scientific care. At the Institute you will find a kind physician, who can at once discover your disease or trouble, and sympatize with you in your affliction. Should you be irregular you can get relief, no matter what may be the cause. You need not fear to call on account of the delicacy of consultation for the utmost secrecy will be insured at all times, and the resident physician will treat you in the most honorable manner, giving you all the assistance and advice, both medical and surgical, that you may require. Private apartments, especially for Ladies.

Preventive.

Dr. J. H. Josselyn's celebrated Preventive for married ladies can be obtained only at the Institute. Price, Ten Dollars.

Warranted to prevent pregnancy. Can be used without any inconvenience, and is good for one year if directions are followed.

This Magnetic Preventive is not injurious, but is conducive to health, and can be used without the knowledge of any one but the party using it.

To sum up, there is no place where the medical profession is practiced in the State of California, wherein the same amount of scientific attainments are employed, and, consequently, where the afflicted can be so well treated, and be as sure of a cure, as at the Electropathic Institute, 645 Washington street, (south side,) a few doors below Kearny.

Reader, if you are sick and need medical assistance call there before employing any one else, and judge for yourself. You will there find the best consulting, as well as the best operating talent in the State, together with the only Electropathic Instrument that can be depended upon in the curative process.

Medicine sent to all parts of the State, Oregon and Nevada, upon the receipt of a letter describing the case.

All letters must be directed to J. H. JOSSELYN, M. D., Resident Physician, Electropathic Institute.

Dr. H. Josselyn has no connection with any other establishment or Institute in this city.

All letters answered with promptness and pleasure, and the utmost secrecy observed. Address

PRIVATE MEDICAL AID.
Quick Cures and Moderate Charges.
DR. W. K. DOHERTY'S
Private Medical and Surgical Institute,
Sacramento Street, below Montgomery, opposite the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Office. Private entrance on Leidesdorff st., San Francisco.
Established expressly to afford the afflicted sound and Scientific Medical Aid, in the treatment and cure of all Private and Chronic Diseases, cases of secrecy and all Sexual Diseases.

To the Afflicted.

DR. W. K. DOHERTY returns his sincere thanks to his numerous patients for their patronage, and would take this opportunity to remind them that he continues to consult at his Institute for the cure of chronic diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Digestive and Genito-Urinary Organs, and all private diseases, viz: Syphilis in all its forms and stages, Seminal Weakness, and all the horrid consequences of self-abuse, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, Nocturnal and Diurnal Emissions, Sexual Debility, Diseases of the Back and Loins, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, etc., etc., and he hopes that his long experience and successful practice will continue to ensure him a share of public patronage. By the practice of many years in Europe and the United States, he is enabled to apply the most efficient and successful remedies against diseases of all kinds. He uses no mercury, charges moderate, treats his patients in a correct and honorable way, and has references from men of known respectability and high standing in society. All parties consulting him, by letter or otherwise, will receive the best and gentlest treatment and implicit secrecy.

Dr. DOHERTY would call attention to the following certificates from two of his patients, who having fully recovered their health, desire to make known their remedial agent. It will be seen their statements are fully authenticated by a Notary Public.

The welfare of society imperiously demand their publicity, and they are given more to warn the unwary than to sound the praises of a Physician, of whom hundreds of like cases can be cited, during a practice of more than fifteen years.

Dr. Doherty—Dear Sir: I feel my health so fully restored, that in common gratitude, I believe I should make you some written acknowledgment for your valuable services—particularly so as your fee was small for the work performed.

I arrived in this city from the East about one year ago, and was then suffering from an old case of Gleet, complicated with Stricture. Being a stranger in this city, and believing those Doctors who gave such positive assurances of success were necessarily the best (some of whom have a large number of titles), I placed myself in their charge and continued under their treatment until I had lost nearly all hope and a considerable sum of money.

I wish to say now that you are the sixth Doctor I have employed, and the only one that his ever done me any service. My Gleet is wholly cured, the Stricture is all removed, and my general health is better than it has been for years.

In conclusion I would say to the many unfortunates who requiremedical advice, if you have any doubt as to whom you may employ, ask Dr. Doherty for my address and call and see me. (I keep store in this city.) My experience may save you many dollars.

I would also add that in the early stage of my disease, I used a large amount of the preparations advertised as an infallible cure for Gonorrhœa, Gleet, etc., but never derived any benefit from them.

I am, Dctor, very truly yours,
L—— H——.

San Francisco, June 16, 1864.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.—A SWORN TO CERTIFICATE OF MOST REMARKABLE CURE OF SPERMATORRHŒA.

A desire to benefit humanity, and a feeling of gratitude to Dr. W. K. Doherty, alone induces me to make this statement. For many years I have been afflicted with that fearful disease known as "Spermatorrhœa." or Seminal Weakness, the result of selfabuse, but till 1855 experienced but little trouble or inconvenience. In that year, however, I had Seminal weakness to an alarming extent, which was soon followed by the most alarming symptoms, as weakness of the back and limbs, pain in the head, dimness of vision, nervousness and general debility. My mind, too, was afflicted to such an extent as to seriously impair my memory; my ideas were confused and spirits depressed. I was averse to society, had evil forebodings and self-distrust, and was entirely unfitted for any of the duties of life. From 1855 to the summer of 1863, I employed the very best medical talent I could find, and spent several hundred dollars, but in no instance obtained more than temporary relief. I had about concluded there was no relief for me in this world, but seeing Dr. Doherty's advertisement, I thought I would call and see him, as he charged nothing for consultation. I had an interview with Dr. Doherty at his office, in Sacramento street, and his fee for treatment was so reasonable, I determined to try him, though I did not expect much benefit from his treatment. On the 5th of December last I placed myself under his care; in one week I found myself very much improved, and now, after five weeks' treatment, I feel myself thoroughly cured of all my troubles and in the enjoyment of the best health. Hoping that my experience may be of benefit to others similarly afflicted, I subscribe myself JAMES JOHNSTON.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 15th day of January, A. D. 1864.
[L. S.] A. G. RANDALL, Notary Public.

To Females.

When a female is in trouble, or afflicted with disease, as weakness of the back and limbs, pain in the head, dimness of sight, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, irritability, nervousness, extreme urinary difficulties, derangement of digestive functions, general debility, vaginitis, all diseases of the womb, hysteria, sterility, and all other diseases peculiar to females, they should go or write at once to the celebrated female doctor, W. K. Doherty, at his Medical Institute, and consult him about their troubles and disease. The Doctor is effecting more cures than any other Physician in the State of California. Let no false delicacy prevent you, but apply immediately and save yourself from painful sufferings and premature death. All Married Ladies, whose delicate health or other circumstances prevent an increase in their families, should write or call at Dr. W. K. Doherty's Medical Institute, and they will receive every possible relief and help. The Doctor's offices are so arranged that he can be consulted without fear of observation.

To Correspondents.

Patients residing in any part of the State, however distant, who may desire the opinion and advice of Dr. Doherty on their respective cases, and who think proper to submit a written statement of such, in preference to holding a personal interview, are respectfully assured that their communications will be held most sacred. Dr. Doherty takes this opportunity of observing, that all letters are only opened and replied to by himself, and the latter as promptly as possible.

If the case be fully and candidly described, and the usual fee of ten dollars enclosed, (by express or in a registered letter) personal communication will be superseded, as instructions for diet, regimen, and the general treatment of the case itself (including the remedies), will be forwarded without delay, and in such a manner as to convey to purport of the letter or parcel so transmitted.

AND HAPPINESS

NOT A FEW

Of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the Blood. Of all the discoveries that have been made to purge it out, none can equal in effect HELMBOLD'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. It cleanses and renovates the Blood, instills the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors which cause disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body, and expels the disorders that grow and rankle in the Blood. Such a remedy, that could be relied on, has long been sought for, and now, for the first time, the public have one on which they can depend. Our space here does not admit of certificates to show its effects, but the trial of a single bottle will show to the sick that it has virtues surpassing anything they have ever taken.

Two tablespoonsful of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoction as usually made.

The above Extracts are prepared on purely scientific principles—in Vacuo—and embody the full strength of the ingredients entering into their composition. A ready and conclusive test will be a comparison of their properties with those set forth in the U. S. Dispensatory.

HOW TO USE THE REMEDIES.

In Diseases of the Blood, Humors on the Face, or any and every part of the body, use Extract Sarsaparilla, applying to Pimples and all external Humors or Eruptions the Improved Rose Wash.

THESE EXTRACTS HAVE BEEN ADMITTED TO USE IN THE UNITED STATES ARMY, and are in very general use in all the STATE HOSPITALS AND PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS throughout the land, as well as in private practice, and are considered as valuable remedies.

The California Fly Killing Liquid.

FLY PAPER KILLS ITS THOUSANDS—THE LIQUID Fly Killer its tens of thousands! This preparation for killing flies gives the greatest satisfaction of anything ever yet used. It is now improved to the highest killing point. It is of such a nature and so speedy of effects, that the flies will not stay in the house, but windows, whichmakes the use of other preparations so objectionable.

THIS CELEBRATED INSTITUTE

has enjoyed on this coast an uninterupted success of fourteen years, and has become one of the renowned Hospitals of the age. What the celebrated Lock Hospital is to London, and the no less renowned establishment of Ricord is to Paris, this Institute has become to the Pacific coast. The thousands annually received and cured place it in point of number of patients among the very first of the world, and the success of its treatment ranks it second to none.

PRIVATE DISEASES IN MALES and IRREGULARITIES IN FEMALES are the great destroyers of health. They insidiously attack the system and gradually undermine and destroy it; they drive the bloom from the cheek, the lustre from the eye, the strength and vigor from the frame; they give to the world puny and diseased offspring, and poison, through succeeding generations, the race of man. The marks can be seen in Scrofula, Consumption, Cripples, the Idiotic, the Paralytic, the Insane, etc.

There is no more terrible scourge to the human race, than those diseases arising from the contamination of Venereal Poison. The mildest forms, by retreating to the blood, hold ever over the one afflicted, the sword of destruction that is liable at any moment to fall and blight—to utterly destroy—all earthly hopes.

MERCURY, recognized as the most fatal medical enemy to man, combining with the Venerial, doubles in dangers. Those who have been treated with that pernicious mineral poison are not cured: the disease has only assumed a new form.

Do not be Satisfied with Partial Cures that leave the poison to crawl through the system, eating its way into the tissues and organs beneaththe apparently smooth surface, to burst out in the future with a virulence that will baffle the effects of medicine. WHEN PERFECT CURES can be obtained by consulting a physician whose long practice and thorough investigation into the causes of DISEASES of the URINARY ORGANS enables to determine at once the nature of the disease.

In all diseases entrusted to the Doctor's care, PERFECT, SPEEDY and PERMANENT.

Cures are always Guaranteed.

In syphilis and its adjuncts; Gonorrhœa and its accompanying diseases; and all disorders of the Bladder, Kidneys and prostrate; Seminal Weakness; Diseases of the Heart and Lungs; Dyspepsia; Indigestion, Impotency; Incipient Consumption, and all diseases of the urinary organs, in either sex, cure always warranted, OR NO PAY REQUIRED at the

SEMINAL WEAKNESS OR SPERMATORRHŒA.

The young man who experiences that growing weakness in his muscular and mental organization should stop to consider whence it arises. He will find in the weakness of the back, trembling of the limbs, disordered digestion, unaccountable failing of the powers of the mind, distaste for society, dread of impending trouble, forbodings of evil sleeplessness, troubled and lacivious dreams accompanied by growing deafness, loss of muscular power, and numerous other symptoms of disorganization, the positive traces of that most terrible and destructive of all diseases, Seminal Weakness—wasting away his powers, destroying his hope of life and manhood, and dragging him along the broken path of his existence toward a premature and loathsome grave. To him who finds his life dribbling out in the discharge of the vital principal of existence in nocturnal and diurnal emissions, the mere cessation of its appearance brings no assurance of relief.

Marriage, that holy office, the safeguard and hope of manhood, brings to such an one no hope of cure, but adds to his misery in the knowledge that the confiding looks to him for so much of her happiness, is a victim of his evil, and an innocent companion of his punishment. He adds to his misery and disorder until hope leaves him. There is no rescue except in proper and skillful treatment. Consult then, at once, a physician whom long practice and careful research has made thoroughly conversant with every phase of the disease. Those who have become the victims of solitary vices, that dreadful, fascinating and destructive habit, which fills thousands of sick rooms with paralytics and consumptives, and hundreds of untimely graves with its misguided victims, should consult, without a moment's delay, one who will sympathize with their sufferings. To such the Doctor would especially address himself, giving to each and all assurance of a PERFECT and PERMANENT CURE, without hindrance from business, change of diet, or fear of exposure.

Do not forget the address. See below.

Important to Females.

When a female is in trouble or afflicted with disease, and requires medical or surgical assistance, the enquiry should be, Where is it we a physician who is fully competent to administer relief, and whose respectable standing in society recommends him to the confidence of the community? The Doctor, understanding how imperatively necessary these requirements are, feels called upon to incorpose, and by the attention of the afflicted to the fact that he has been a Professor of Obstetrics and Female Diseases for twenty years, and is fully qualified to administer in all cases, both medically and surgically, not in a superficial manner, but in as thorough a manner as years of study and practice—both in hospitals and private families—can make, to save them from the hands of the unqualified, unscrupulous and designing. Therefore families can rely upon him as upon a father. All in affliction can find in him one who can feel and sympathize with and befriend them in trouble—one in whose secrecy and the utmost confidence can be placed. Consultation, by letter or otherwise, Free. See address below.

THE CELEBRATED FEMALE REMEDIES, compounded from the private prescription of Dr. Young, have now obtained a most extended popularity, and are correctly viewed to be the safest and surest remedies or the complaints for which they are applied. The constantly accru
